

There are 27 million slaves in the world today – 250 000 of those are in North America. It is time to do something.

On Friday, May 10, 2013 please join us for an inspiring night at the Sheraton Vancouver Wall Centre. The inaugural Freedom Gala is an evening to raise funds and awareness on human trafficking in our own backyard. Proceeds will benefit The Salvation Army's campaign against human trafficking, which includes a safe house for survivors of human trafficking, building public awareness, and prevention through high school presentations.
